The film featuring the first air travel through Europe restored in 4K and screened at the Budapest Classic Films Festival (18-21 September 2025)

GP archives is proud to announce that a restored copy of “Flying Over Europe: From London to Constantinople”, a 90-minutes Gaumont documentary dated 1922 now restored in 4K from the original nitrate negative, will be premiered at the Budapest Classic Films Festival on Sept. 18, 2025.

Impatiently expected by numerous experts and professionals of both the film and aerial communities, “Flying Over Europe” is known as the first film ever featuring an intercontinental air travel over Europe. It offers the chance to visit the main capital cities of Central Europe on the way from London to Constantinople, including stunning aerial views and street scenes of the cities at that time.
