UV&S Acquires London-Based Coloursonic, Expanding Graphics Production Services

HUTCHINSON, KS – UV&S Inc. has acquired Coloursonic, a London-based large-format printing and installation company. The acquisition expands the capabilities of UV&S Event Services while adding a broader range of standalone print and graphics services to the UV&S portfolio.

Coloursonic provides services including event and exhibition graphics, retail and interior graphics, signage, advertising hoardings, window and outdoor graphics, vehicle branding, bespoke projects, and full project management, including design and installation, to clients across a variety of industries.

“Coloursonic is a natural extension of the graphics and branding work we already provide through UV&S Event Services, while also adding capabilities that broaden our overall offering,” said Jeff Ollenburger, President of UV&S. “They have built a strong business around quality, service, and finding the right solution for each project. Bringing our teams together expands the resources available to our Event Services clients while creating new opportunities to serve organizations that need design, high-quality large-format printing, and installation services.”

Founders and owners Paul and Michaela Chandler will remain with Coloursonic for the next year, while Matt Chandler will lead the team as Director moving forward. Operating from its Central London location as a division of UV&S, Coloursonic will have access to broader resources and opportunities to collaborate with UV&S Event Services and other UV&S divisions. These expanded resources will strengthen UV&S’s ability to support clients and partners throughout the UK, Europe, and worldwide.

“We founded Coloursonic in 1998 with a vision to find the right solutions for our clients and have created a team that takes real pride in the work we produce,” said Paul Chandler, Director and Founder of Coloursonic Ltd. “Becoming part of UV&S creates an exciting opportunity to build on the services and relationships we have developed. We are excited about what we can achieve as part of the larger UV&S family and the new opportunities ahead for our team and our clients.”

The acquisition marks the latest step in UV&S’s long-term strategy of diversifying and growing its service offerings. UV&S has continued to invest in the Event Services division, adding design, construction, printing, exhibit installation, and metal fabrication capabilities over the years. Coloursonic adds both production capacity and a broader range of graphics services to those existing capabilities.

Founded in 1959, Underground Vaults & Storage rebranded to UV&S to better reflect our expanded range of services beyond secure storage. With divisions specializing in IT solutions, digitization, content creation, and event services, UV&S supports clients worldwide. Our services include secure storage, records management, destruction, and recycling. The UV&S Technology division provides IT support, cybersecurity, and data center hosting. UV&S Event Services offers event and festival services, R3store Studios specializes in film digitization and restoration, and Salt Vault Studio helps organizations unlock the creative and commercial potential of archival media. UV&S Corporate operates from Hutchinson, KS, supporting multiple locations in the United States, the United Kingdom, and France. We are best known for our flagship salt mine facility in Hutchinson, where we store millions of items 650 feet underground for some of the largest companies in the world, including those in the motion picture and television industry.
